ROXBURY MASSACHUSETTS MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO COCAINE DISTRIBUTION

CONCORD, NEW HAMPSHIRE – United States Attorney Tom Colantuono announced that Jason Q. Taylor, age 20, of Roxbury, Massachusetts plead guilty Wednesday in U.S. District Court in connection with the distribution of cocaine in Manchester, New Hampshire in January 2002. Taylor admitted his guilt to two counts in an indictment during a hearing before U. S. District Judge Joseph A. DiClerico, Jr. He was detained pending a sentencing hearing which is scheduled for August 18, 2003.

U.S. Attorney Tom Colantuono stated, "The prosecution of this case and others like it represents the continuing efforts of local and state law enforcement, working jointly with the United States Attorney's Office, to keep out of state drug dealers from entering our State to commit their crimes."

The successful prosecution of this case resulted from the efforts of the Manchester Police Department, and the U.S. Marshal's Service. This case was prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert J. Veiga.
